

Jason Frith

Jason Frith currently maintains an active career as a percussionist, teacher and arranger. Jason has spent the last 16 years working with numerous school percussion ensembles across North and South Carolina. He has been an instructor with the University of South Carolina Drumline (1997-2002), Swansea HS (2002-2005), Co-Director of the USC Marching Percussion Camp (2001-03, 2005-2010). He also served as front ensemble instructor and associate director of the CWEA and CIPA gold medalist Verdigris independent indoor percussion ensemble (2006-2008). Jason is currently co-director of percussion at Ridge View H.S. and also serves as director of percussion studies at Blythewood Middle School, Kelly Mill Middle School, Summit Parkway Middle School, and Muller Rd. Middle School. Jason's arranging credits include Ridge View High School (2006-present), Strom Thurmond High School (2008-2009, 2011-present), Lexington High School (2011-present), Spring Valley High School (2012-present), Swansea High School (2013-present).

Jason and his wife Kerry were married May 31st, 2008. The Frith's live in Elgin, SC with their daughters Riley Shannon, Amelia Drew, and three dogs, Berkley, Elliot Peart, and Maxwell Edison.